CAREERS IN FIRE ADAPTATION
Brown Bag Series

Speakers will provide insight into career pathways in fire adaptation. The first webinar in this series will feature community wildfire resilience coordinators from fire departments across the country.
Learn where you could go in your career and how to get there.

Chris Chambers
Ashland Fire and Rescue

Justice Jones
Austin Fire

Danielle McNutt
City of Boulder Fire Department

Who should participate: Undergraduate students, graduate students, early career professionals, folks interested in changing careers should all feel encouraged to join.

What will we cover?: In this first installment in the series, we will focus on community wildfire resilience work. Each of our presenters spends their days at the interface between landscape management, structure resilience, and community capacity for prevention, evacuation, and recovery. We will hear about the day-to-day of working with community and agency partners to protect communities vulnerable to wildfire risk.

Will there be more sessions?: This is part of a three-part series in which we'll hear from professionals in a number of wildfire adaptation fields. In Spring 2025 we will learn from local non-profits and government employees about their work and the path that brought them there.

November 12, 2024 - 12 MST
Zoom Registration Link

FIRE ADAPTED COMMUNITIES LEARNING NETWORK

This series is proudly presented by the Fire Adapted Communities Learning Network (FAC Net). FAC Net exists to support and connect people and communities working on wildfire resilience. It offers community-based leaders resources, tools and connections to reduce their wildfire risk and increase community resilience. FAC Net is a catalyst for spreading fire adaptation practices and innovations nationwide.

For questions and more information:
info@fireadaptednetwork.org